TO SUCCEED IN LIFE

You Must Mix Confidence and Modesty in Equal Proportions.

You can't get on, no matter what your business is—whether you are a steeplejack or a coal miner—unless you have confidence. Confidence in others, confidence in your tools of trade—and most of all, confidence in yourself.

There is a wide difference between confidence and the exaggerated ego. Sometimes a man with the perpendicular pronoun most pronounced in his make-up crowds his way to the front; but he doesn't hold it if he keeps on thinking more of the impression he is making than of the business he is doing.

But don't for a moment get it into your mind that the man who has honest confidence in himself and his ability to make good, is the one who sprinkles his conversation full of capital 'I's.

Many a business success has been wrought simply on the foundation of faith that the man had in himself. By the same token many a structure has gone well up into the sky and then came tumbling down because the "I"-beams were too heavy for the rest of the edifice.

Overconfidence is an affliction; underconfidence a calamity.

If you can strike the happy medium, believing quietly in your own ability to go ahead and do things, others will realize it and help you achieve your aim in life.

And the successful man who holds on to his success to the end of his days is the one who mixes confidence and modesty in equal proportions and keeps them well balanced.

Could Not.

The Truth About the Pole.

Latitude 90, Sept. 15, 1910.

To The Advocate, U. S. America: I have been discovered, as you guessed. And I am not in the least embarrassed, although it has never happened before. Your inquiry is the first addressed to me, and I wish to thank you for appreciating that I would like some say in the matter, along with Doctor Cook, Lieutenant Peary, the Eskimos, the dogs and the barrels of gumdrops carried by Dr. Cook.

I am at work on a volume entitled "How it Feels to be Discovered," which I hope to have finished by the time the first Popular North Pole Excursion—$75.68 round trip—reaches me. But meanwhile, I will give you the facts briefly.

Both claimants are right. Both Cook and Peary discovered me.

The only reason they didn't discover each other discovering me, was that they approached me from different sides.

I hid each explorer from the other!

And while Cook was tacking his American flag to my one side, Lieutenant Peary was nailing his to the other.

So intent were they on their tasks they did not hear the hammering—but they will when they get back to their homes. (I understand the knockers are out in force with their own hammers!)

Therefore, I would suggest that the honors be evenly divided between the two—and a joint lecturing tour be arranged by the gentlemen interested.

Yours coolly,

THE NORTH POLE.

N. B.—The report that I am twins is grossly exaggerated.

OUR BOYS.

How to Make the Best Citizens of Them--The Boy Problem.

Address by Mrs. C. E. Stevenson, delivered at the Farmers' Institute, White Post, Ky., March 5, 1910.

This subject could have been handled better by an older person; who had been successful in training up useful citizens. One who could have spoken from experience rather than one who is struggling with the "boy problem" in her own home. However, the few suggestions I shall give are not entirely my own, but what I've attained by reading and talking with others.

Philanthropists, social workers and parents are studying this question as never before. The State realizes the difference between good citizen and a criminal, and is spending thousands of dollars each year in trying to educate her future citizens. We point with pride to our public school system, and yet the State's expenses of her criminals is far in excess of that spent for education.

Education is not alone training the mind to think, it is also training the hands to do things. To our public school curriculum there should be added a manual, and a physical training course. A boy should be trained for some definite constructive work; some definite part in life's activities, specialization should be the watchword. We should train the boy for the thing he is best adapted. If he is mechanically inclined he should be developed along that line. If he wants to be a farmer give him a chance to secure an education. Do not think he does not need an education because he expects to be a farmer. Some of our most progressive and certainly most of our best citizens are farmers. Too long we've given our boys the idea that doctors and lawyers hold the only positions of honor. We've spoiled many a good farmer or mechanic and made a poor doctor or lawyer. A physical training course is almost a necessity in cities where boys have such little chance to work off the superabundance of energy. We know well that a good healthy body gives a feeling of buoyancy, a feeling of self-respect and self-control which gives one a vision in life of what a true citizen should be. The use of the word problem in connection with the boy shows that there is still an unsolved question.

The period of a boy's life is roughly divided as follows: Infancy, from birth to about six childhood, from six to fourteen adolescence, from about fourteen to manhood. Infancy is characterized by the most restless impulsive activity. The infant is like the wild creature of the wood, and it is as cruel to confine the physical activities of the young as those of squirrels or birds. Childhood is marked self-directed physical activities. The instinct which is most prominent is the play instinct. It is both expression and means of education. Dr. Fisher says: "Play is not a luxury but a necessity." It is not what a child likes to have but what he must have. The infant plays alone by creeping, shaking, fondling, etc. The boy child begins to imagine and to personify in his games and wishes to play with others. But that this social instinct is yet incomplete is shown by the fact in games, each one is for himself alone. By the time the boy reaches the adolescence age we notice the gang instinct. He likes to be with other boys. The boy whistling under the window is singing a siren song to the boy inside, one that is well nigh irresistible, for it is nature's cry for companionship of "like with like." It is just here that one of the greatest dangers threaten the boy, and wise are the parents who know how to control the situation without doing a wrong to either boy—the boy outside may be no worse or he may be better than the one inside. The parents of both should know the other and together if possible, or separately each try to help, not only their own boy but the other as well. While there are dangers of this gang instinct the opportunities for helping the boy are many. There are some things the boy learns through the gang which he can learn in no other way. It develops leadership and nowhere else can a boy learn the brotherhood of man. Out among his peers he goes to give and take and to mitigate his own selfishness. When the gang spirit appears it is better to co-operate with it rather than obstruct it, it only needs the wise leadership of an older person, for boys at adolescence; a man is preferable. However, women have been known to change a nautical gang into a band with a useful purpose. One writer says that boys are as good as the homes they come from, which is not saying all boys are as good as their mothers. Sometimes fathers are not a credit to their sons. It is the father's duty to share his boy's joys. The father should hunt, fish, swim and read with his boy. The father, who takes long strolls in the woods with his boy or goes out camping with him forms a bond of attachment that will never break. The establishment of gang headquarters at home would be a great event. Here, with the father taken into secret he could help plan those daring raids and pull the safety valve by entering into the true spirit of them.

The growing boy is brimming over with exuberant life. One writer says, "when God Almighty made man he made him significant, but when he made the first boy he made him interesting." He further said, if God made man out of dust, he surely made man out of electricity. It is the electricity that constitutes the boy problem. The boy is all alive and alive all the time. The failure to keep boys occupied in thought and action is one of our greatest crimes. He should have piled up regular engagements of work and play so that he can just find time to eat and sleep. Now how can this be done? You, who live on the farm ought to be thankful you have such chores for your boy to do as chopping the wood, driving the cows to water, feeding pigs, etc. these tasks mean much in the home life of the restless boy. They give him an interest and a share in the domestic life. The country boy has the advantage of the hills and fields in which to play, but often he thinks they are too common for him and we find around old barns, where others have congregated, to smoke or play cards. We shall save our boys when we are willing to share their life with them. There's a motto among the Germans, saying, "come let us live with our children." In Sparta, when a boy committed a crime his father was punished. Fathers and mothers should ask themselves these questions: Are all of the boys of our neighborhood receiving mental, physical and social development? What can we do to help them? It's a good father or mother who looks after their own but a better one who would save their neighbors also. We should teach our boys to know the value of money. A boy on a farm should be given a piece of ground to work, some chickens, ducks or something for his own, allowing him the profits on the same.

We should make the right course of action so appeal to the boy that he will desire and choose it for himself. An act compelled is like an apple tied on a fruit tree; it did not grow there and has no connection with the life of the tree.

A bar of crude iron is worth $5.00. If made into horse shoes it is worth $35.00. If made into needles it increases to $350.00, when made into penknife blades it is worth $12.00, when made into balance wheels of a watch it is worth $25,000. So is the difference in the value to the home, the State and the nation between the boy neglected and the one protected, loved and properly instructed. Christ recognized the value of the boy when he said of a mother: "She remembereth no more the anguish for joy that a man is born into the world." Into his hands the world expects to put power to rule, or to ruin. This man-child is therefore the most valuable asset of a nation and his rearing of vital importance to its future.

Upon whom does this responsibility fall? Who is to make the blessing or the bane of the world?

TAKEN UP.

"Oh, fly with me!" the lover cried, In ecstasy he spoke, He'd heard the sentence on the stage. And thought it but a joke. But when he fell in love—ah, well—He used the thrilling phrase As if it were original. His mind was in a maze. But she was game and also up On all the latest news, Although she'd never been upon An atmospheric cruise. "I will," said she, calm and precise, "Although it looks like rain, We'll married be, and then away! Where's your aeroplane?"

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Mt. Sterling People Have Found That This is True.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench, A little cause may hurt the kidneys. Spells of backache often follow, Or some irregularity of the urine.

A certain remedy for such attacks, A medicine that answers every call.

Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific. Many Mt. Sterling people rely on it.

Here is Mt. Sterling proof: John W. Forman, 8 Montgomery St., Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "I think my kidney trouble was the result of overexertion. I was compelled to give up all work that required stooping on account of a weak and lame back. I was often laid up for several days at a time and finally I began to look around for a cure. I did not find anything of benefit until I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at F. C. Duerson's Drug Store. I was soon well and strong after beginning their use, and now I am entirely free from kidney trouble. I am pleased to give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 30 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Comfortable, Durable, Sanitary

Cost of living HAS gone up. But every dollar spent with us now for furniture will buy more quality and vastly more beauty than ever before.

It used to be thought that all BEAUTIFUL furniture had to be very expensive. That is no longer true. There ARE makes of inexpensive furniture that embody a surprising amount of beauty and good taste.

That's what we make a business of—always buying from the right manufacturers and at prices which mean a big saving to you. Our purchases for the season consist of everything to beautify your home and make it comfortable. It is much more satisfactory to you—to see and examine the article you want rather than buy from pictures in catalogues. You can't always form a correct idea, and very often you are misled, which results in disappointment. Our store is YOUR store and we want you to come in and see for yourself the REAL values we are offering at prices you would hardly think possible.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

The natural gas explosion (an account of which appears in another column) causing injury to three persons and considerable damage to property, demonstrates to our minds the necessity of a greater degree of care on the part of our citizens, in the handling of natural gas and the need of a City Plumbing Inspector.

Few people are as careful in this regard as they should be and often fail to turn the gas entirely off. It is a well known fact that much of the plumbing work in the city was done hurriedly and in many instances by inexperienced labor.

A thorough inspection of it, at frequent intervals, by some competent person, as is done in many of our cities, and a greater degree of care on the part of the people will prevent many similar accidents.

Resolutions of Respect.

The following report was unanimously adopted by the Montgomery County Bar at the regular May term of the Quarterly Court yesterday:

"We, the undersigned committee, appointed at the last meeting of this Court to draft suitable resolutions on the death of Jno. F. King, former County Court Clerk of Montgomery county, beg leave to submit the following report:

"That at the time of his death, which occurred April 19, 1910, he was 51 years of age; was born in Nicholas county, Ky., removed to this county when quite a small child and continued to so reside until his death.

"In public life he was always courteous, competent and attentive to duty; in private life he was clean-minded, scrupulously honest and just in all things; always practicing the charity of both word and deed. For many years he was an active member of the local Catholic Church and no one enjoyed the confidence and respect of the entire community more than he.

"By his death, the bereaved family have lost a valuable member, the county an excellent official and the community an exemplary citizen.

"Respectfully submitted,

H. R. PREWITT,
B. F. DAY,
E. W. SENFF,
Committee."

Land, Stock & Crop

About the usual crop of hemp will be put in.

Wheat and oats are coming very slow, about same acreage as last year.

Owing to the cold weather of the past month the blue grass crop is going to be short.

Taken as a whole, all crops are backward but there will be a larger acreage than usual of almost every crop.

A larger crop of corn than usual has been planted. Most all replanting is finished but is doing little good on account of the cold weather.

Tobacco plants are somewhat small for this time of the season and the prospects for a large crop are not as flattering as they were some time ago, although an increase of 15 to 20 per cent. over last year is predicted.

Some Good Young Stuff on the Market.

About 2,500 cattle on the market. The quality was fairly good. Trade was slow owing partly to high prices asked and a great many farmers wish to gather the grass seed before buying cattle. No heavy feeders on the market; $6.25 was refused for a bunch of 900-lb. steers that were good ones. Yearlings at 6c.; heifers at from $4.75 to $5.50; cows and rough oxen at 2 to 3 cts. A bunch of 100-lb. hogs sold at $9.95. Small crowd at the pens and a great many cattle left over at night unsold. We caught a few of the sales and they tell the run of the market:

Lee Falkner sold 5 700-lb. heifers to Jesse Highland at 5c.

Ratliff & Murphy sold 4 700-lb. cows to C. F. Horseman, of Bath county at $3.25.

Jas. Arnett sold 4 1,100 oxen to B. F. Kearns, of Carlisle, at $4.75 Joe Downing, of Lexington, bought a bunch of cows at from $4.50 to $5.25; the latter price for fat cows.

Fred McCormick sold 5 800-lb. heifers to Marshal & Downing at $3.50.

Jas. McDonald bought 25 cows, bulls and oxen at from $2.50 to $4.00.

Sam Keeton sold 12 625-lb. steers to Thos. Fox at 6c.

Henry Riggs bought 20 600-lb. steers of Green & Allen at $35 per head.

F. B. Henry, of Carlisle bought some 1,050-lb. oxen of Dorsey & Murphy at $4.25.

Wilson & Co. sold 3 1,200 oxen to B. F. Henry at 5c.

Mike Wilson sold 20 450-lb. heifers to Mat Maloney, of Carlisle, at $22.50 per head; same party sold A. F. Kearns 5 900-lb. cows at $4.25.

W. L. Bird sold 7 850-lb. cows

Explosion of Gas.

Many people were startled Saturday night at about 8:30 o'clock by a terrific explosion, and upon investigation it was found to have been caused by a gas explosion at the home of W. H. Waller. It is not known whether Mr. Waller turned the gas on and failed to light it before being overcome by the gas or whether it was caused by defective plumbing.

John H. Spencer and wife, who live in part of the house, first noticed the escaping gas from the odor, and Mr. Spencer went to the door and opening it looked in at the same time striking a match. The force of the explosion practically destroyed the back part of the house.

Mrs. Spencer was standing in the door of her room several feet away holding a lighted lamp in her hand, and the force of the explosion completely destroyed the lamp, leaving only the handle in her hand. The flying glass cut her face badly.

Mr. Waller who is nearly 85 years old, was badly burned and it is feared he is internally injured. Mr. Spencer is suffering from burns on the head, face, chest and hands. We understand no insurance covers a loss of this character.

General James S. Clarkson retired recently from the office of surveyor of the port of New York. General Clarkson, speaking to the New York correspondent for the Chicago Record-Herald, Republican, said that he was glad to get rid of the load. He said that his efforts for honest administration were constantly thwarted. Then he said:

"I worked for a scales that would tell the truth, but my efforts were constantly thwarted at Washington. The Fairbanks Company experimented for two years until it had perfected an automatic scales that would have been most suitable for our use. I had them tried and they were satisfactory, but when the president of the company went to Washington he was turned down. Why? Perhaps you all know as well as I. Another time we secured a satisfactory scales, and when it was sent to Washington for approval it was laid away in some cellar. It was never sent back. What prevented the adoption of the scales I do not know. But I do know that we haven't got the scales, which would have saved the government $1,000,000 since I have been in office."

When "Ret Clarkson deserts the Republican ship it must be plain that the old vessel is sinking. Commoner.

LOT NO. 9: Beginning at the northeast corner of lot No. 10 on the west margin of Harrison Avenue; thence with the west margin of Harrison Avenue N. 14° W. 50 ft. to a stake at the southeast corner of lot No. 8; thence with the south line of lot No. 8 S. 74° 15' E. 209 ft. 6 in. to a stake in Hazelrigg's line at the southwest corner of lot No. 9; thence with Hazelrigg's line S. 16° 30' E. 50 ft. to a stake at the northwest corner of lot No. 10; thence with the north line of lot No. 10 N. 74° 15' E. 208 ft. to the beginning.

LOT NO. 10: Beginning at the northeast corner of Mrs. Iva D. Wood's lot on the west margin of Harrison Avenue; thence with the west margin of Harrison Avenue N. 14° W. 82 ft. to a stake at the southeast corner of lot No. 9; thence with the south line of lot No. 9 S. 74° 15' E. 208 ft. to a stake at the southwest corner of lot No. 10; thence with Hazelrigg and Miller lines S. 16° 30' E. 82 ft. to a stake at the northwest corner of the Wood lot; thence with the north line of same N. 74° 15' E. 207 ft. to the beginning. In the northeast corner of this lot there is a graveyard, the dimensions of which are 20x15 ft. and is to be reserved and not to be sold.

If the said vacant lot, sold as directed above, does not bring a sum sufficient to cover the total of the amounts heretofore ordered to be made, the said Master Commissioner will then sell, on a credit of 6 months, a lot cut out on the north side of the home residence of the said Mrs. Nanie B. Witt, fronting on Harrison Avenue, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

LOT NO. 11: Beginning at the intersection of College street and Harrison Avenue; thence with the south line of College street S. 74° 15' W. 185 ft. to a stake at a 14 ft. alley leading from College street to the rear of the main residence property; thence S. 16° 30' E. 50 ft. to a stake, corner made to the alley; thence N. 74° 15' E. 185 ft. to a stake on the west margin of Harrison Avenue; thence with the west margin of same N. 14° W. 50 ft. to the beginning.

Should the said vacant lot first above named and described, or a lot cut in the aggregate the total amount herein ordered to be made, then the Master Commissioner will sell, on a credit of 6 months, a lot cut out on the south side of the said home residence property, fronting on Harrison Avenue, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

LOT NO. 12: Beginning at a stake on the west margin of Harrison Avenue at the northeast corner of the E. E. Jones lot; thence with the west margin of Harrison Avenue N. 14° W. 50 ft. to a stake; thence S. 74° 15' E. 185 ft. to a stake in the line of the Vice property; thence with the line of same S. 16° 30' E. 50 ft. to a stake at the northwest corner of the Jones property; thence with the north line of same N. 74° 15' E. 175 ft. to the beginning.

Or sufficient to produce $2150.58, so ordered to be made.

The purchaser will be required to give bond, with approved security, for the payment of the purchase money, to have the force and effect of a repurchase, and a hearing legal interest from the day of sale, according to law. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms. A lien will be retained on the land sold until all the purchase money is paid. Bond payable to Master Commissioner.

JOHN A. JUDY,

43-3 Master Commissioner M. C. C.

Sports and Fits of Enthusiasm.

Sports of enthusiasm are usually mistaken for something doing.

Our Town takes on a fit of enthusiasm for development and we rush headlong into a lot of mistakes.

When we realize our mistakes we are discouraged and ready to quit.

That is just the place where we should begin, to use common sense.

In Our Town we have needed a commercial association; now that our citizens are aroused, let's go ahead today with a whirl and boast of something doing. This is the way the average man feels about it and he wants to see details of practical results and evidence of our money's worth in the afternoon papers.

The way to avoid these mistakes is to call in the assistance of some one who has had experience in town and city development work; that person to make a survey of the situation and report.

There are men who can be engaged for this work who have met and solved such problems as now confront our town. The employment of such men will prevent many mistakes, expedite their work and lead to such good results as will satisfy all concerned.

And all are concerned. Every man who subscribes a dollar for membership or for other purposes feels, as he has a just right to feel, an interest and concern in the success of the organization.

He is entitled to expect his money's worth.

Let's try to give it to him.

Because we owe it to him—and to ourselves.—Town Development.

Donau Won The Derby.
Nearly 50,000 people saw the Tennessee horse, Donau, the favorite, win the thirty-sixth Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs on Tuesday afternoon of last week in the time of 2:06.4, within three-twentieths of a second of the length, with Joe Morris second and Fighting Bob third. The crowd was the largest that ever attended a derby. The paid admissions are said to have been about 25,000, and nearly as many more people were in the free field.

Edison On Electricity.

Thomas A. Edison, the greatest electrician of all the ages, has a remarkable article in the June issue of Popular Electricity on "The Tomorrows of Electricity and Invention," in which he declares that the chances for a successful career in the electrical field are better than ever before; that electrical inventions have not yet all been made; that electricity is the only thing that has become cheaper in the last few years; that the high cost of living comes from the cost of delivering small articles to the ultimate consumer; that horses have no place in city streets; that hereafter motors will do all the chores, and that houses of cement for "plain folks" can be built for $1,200 by the Edison system of molds.

Mr. Edison says we shall have easily $50,000,000,000 of money in the electrical service by 1925 and five times as many persons will then be employed in electricity as now.

He makes the startling declaration that there is absolutely no reason why horses should be allowed within city limits, for between the gasoline and electric car no room is left for them. A higher public ideal of health and cleanliness is working toward such banishment swiftly, and then we shall have decent streets instead of stables made of cobblestones bordered by sidewalks.

Mr. Edison says he believes a family could live the year around without using anything but good "package food." What is needed, he says, is to carry that a step further and devise automatic stores where the distributing cost is brought down to a minimum on every article handled; a few electro-magnets controlling chutes and hoppers and the thing is done.

Speaking about the cement houses with which he has been experimenting, Mr. Edison says: Homes and rents are much too high—I saw it coming long ago and hence went into making cement, the cheapest and most durable building material man has ever had. I just mold a house instead of a brick. I believe that the houses can be erected complete with plumbing and heating apparatus for $1,200 each, when erected on land underlaid with sand and gravel. In cut stone such a house would cost $50,000.—Leader

This label is the mark of the best store as well as the best clothes.

What Does the Label Mean And What Does it Stand For?

Protection follows this label.

It is a little thing to look for, but yet what a great mantle of protection it throws around your purchases, whether it be clothes to wear or food to eat. Seldom you men look for it—you haven't the time to spend money properly, but you have time for complaint when YOU have an unsatisfactory purchase. It is said the Women's Clubs of America were first to agitate the pure food laws and have food stuffs labeled what they contained. Perhaps it will be left to them to have pure wool laws enacted and all textile materials labeled what they really are for the protection of the purchasers of apparel for men. It should be they do things and besides they spend from eighty to ninety per cent of the eight hundred million every year for textile materials.

If all men stood for right and backed the fair, square stores and looked for the label of fair, square manufacturers we would need no laws to brand wool wool, cotton cotton or linen linen.

Why, down in Rochester, New York, a firm, the

have spent a half a hundred years pleading intelligently with the men of America to look for their label that they would know their clothes from the inferior—the clothes that were the best at the beginning, the clothes that opened the way, the clothes that at the noon day of their triumph compared favorably with the best of other makes of to-day. The

have increased in good with time and to-day stand as the world's known best. It is no more than natural that they are here in the

and they may be had at moderate prices. Look for the Stein-Bloch label—it means wool, honest tailoring and honest methods from maker to purchaser.

This picture shows the results after the wool tests which are carried on in the Stein-Bloch factory. The wool from this piece has been dissolved by caustic potash, leaving the mercerized cotton.

EARTH IN NO DANGER

From Contact With Comet's Tail—Scientists Generally Agree That no Catastrophe Will Attend Passage Today.

Halley's comet will be greeted today on its closest approach to the earth by bristling batteries of telescopes flashed by rapid fire lenses in the celestial cameras of the Naval Observatory, the only national observatory in the United States.

The government observer is prepared for the great star rushing through space and elaborate calculations have been made as to the minute and second the flying comet will be at given places in the heavens, where it will be observed and photographed.

SCIENTISTS DO NOT AGREE.

Among scientists there is some difference of opinion as to the effect the great star will have upon the earth, but the differences are minor. Prof. A. Sapp Hall, of the Naval Observatory, would not be surprised if there were a shower of meteorites.

He advanced his theory with the same calmness that he would prophesy a shower of rain. Others, and they are in the majority, expect that no disturbances will mark the passing of the comet.

Edwin F. Nauty, of New York, who has been at the observatory making telescopic and spectroscopic observations, takes issue with Professor Hall and contends that the tail of the comet is composed neither of gas nor of meteoric bodies, and that such a shower is not likely to follow.

"Halley's comet, to all intents and purposes, is a celestial searchlight," said he. "It is nothing more than sunlight condensed from the radiance of the sun, precisely as a lens focuses condenses and transmits light."

The Lexington Herald has the following to say about the comet: "Here's consolation for those who fear that the earth will be knocked into smithereens today by Halley's comet. A Down East man fixes 'judgment day' for a date in June, which gives a little longer breathing spell. However, those who believe either story should be treated by a specialist for the simples."

The Best Way.

As a general proposition, local newspapers are the best and most effective means of reaching the people. Especially is this true in the small enterprising town with a lively weekly newspaper that is a member of the family. Merchants who have tried other means generally go back to the newspaper as the safest and best under all conditions. Although circulars may be extremely effective, quite contrary to the general belief they are usually more expensive, and unless they are very well gotten up are apt to be less satisfactory.

Do You Remember "Dutch?"

Frank Browning, of Falmouth, who is pitching for Detroit in the American League, won his second game at Cleveland last week in a score of 5 to 2. Besides printing a quarter page picture of him, the Cleveland Leader has the following to say of our Frank:

"Browning acquired his second victory over the Naps yesterday. He stopped McGuire's tribe last Saturday after they had won two games at Detroit. Yesterday his work was all that the most exacting manager could demand.

"Browning is just about the smallest pitcher in the big leagues. He stands about five feet six and weighs only 135 pounds.

"Snatched from the cradle before he had acquired a man's physique, this boy Browning just yesterday with the grown-up Naps the honor of being the smallest pitcher in captivity. Before yesterday's fray he acknowledged having around his person 135 pounds or so. To all appearances he is a deceiving creature, for he served up an assortment that would have done credit to a Joss, a Matthewson or a Walsh."—Falmouth Outlook.

And this is the same Browning that played such sensational ball for Mt. Sterling several years ago.

MARRIAGES.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Bald, of Louisville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elsie May, to Dr. Edmond D. Wells, of this city, on Wednesday, June 18, at the bride's home. It will be a quiet affair and only a few relatives and intimate friends will witness the ceremony.

FESLER-PREWITT.

Mr. Henry Fesler and Miss Mary Y. Prewitt, both of this county, were quietly married in the Leland Hotel parlors, Lexington, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning by Justice Almer Oldham. The ceremony was witnessed by Archie Prewitt, the bride's father, and Henry Prewitt, her brother. Mr. Fesler has been in the South for several months for his health. They will reside on Mr. Fesler's farm near this city.

CORN-McCLURE.

On Tuesday at the Gibson House in Cincinnati, Miss Gertrude Corn, of Louisville, and Mrs. Rozin McClure, of this city, were united in marriage. The wedding was quite a surprise to Mr. McClure's many friends here. Miss Fannie Hayden, Miss Corn's aunt, and Miss Nellie McClure, sister of the groom, were the only persons present. Miss Corn is the daughter of Mrs. John Corn, of 423 West Chestnut street, Louisville, Ky., and is one of the most charming and popular girls in the Falls City. Mr. McClure is the only son of Mrs. Mary McClure, of this city, and is one of our most popular and deserving young men.

The Advocate with a host of friends extends congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy married life. After a two weeks Northern trip, they will come here for a short stay and will then go to Cotton Plant, Arkansas, to reside, where Mr. McClure has secured an excellent position as secretary and treasurer of the Southwestern Veneer Co.

RELIGIOUS

Rev. W. J. Bolin preached a most excellent sermon Sunday morning at the Baptist Church to a large and appreciative audience. Rev. Bolin is one of the best-liked ministers that ever held a pastorate in this city.

On last Sabbath morning a service was held at the Presbyterian Church in memory of Miss Ann L. Rainey, a former resident of this city, who died at Bartlesville, Okla., on December 5, 1908. The service was conducted by Rev. W. O. Goodloe, D. D., of Scottsburg, Ind., a former pastor of the Presbyterian Church. The re-interment, in Machpelah Cemetery, took place at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon and was attended by a large number of former friends. The members of her family present were Prof. C. A. Leonard, of Jackson, Ky.; Rev. W. O. Goodloe, D. D., and wife, and Rev. H. C. Rainey, of Bartlesville, Okla., all former residents of this city.

M. S. C. J. Commencement.

The Commencement Exercises of Mt. Sterling Collegiate Institute will be held on Friday, May 27, at Institute Place at the terminus of Holt avenue. The exercises will begin at 10 o'clock, a. m. Prof. Charles C. Freeman, head of the English Department of Transylvania University, Lexington, will deliver the address to the graduating class. The graduating class consists of five members—four young ladies, Misses Marybelle Swetnam, Olive Stephens, Edna Hamilton and Sallie Eubank; and one young man, Mr. Ralph Greene. Each graduate will take an appropriate part in the exercises.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered on next Sunday evening, May 22, at the Christian Church, by Rev. H. D. Clark. Special seats will be reserved for the graduating class at this service. All friends of the graduating class and the Institute are cordially invited to attend all exercises of the Commencement.

Being Honest!

It's an old theme—but ever new. How many times do you make the office boy lie for you, though? A New York paper carried a wail from an office boy the other day about the lies he had to tell—because his employer didn't want to see this or that individual who came into the place.

The office boy declared that these "whitelies" he was forced to tell were so numerous that by and by he wouldn't be able to know the difference between the truth and a near truth, even if he microscoped it!

Of course, "Tell him I'm not in," is easy enough to say—for you and the boy—but there may be food for thought in the office boy's kick.

Perhaps, with an effort, you could manage to say, "Tell him I can't see him now," or, "I don't want to see him"—and he wouldn't be so apt to come back.

Honesty in big things is not so rare; but there are some of us who haven't the courage to be right up to the starting line when it comes to the smaller.

And if you ask the office boy to lie for you, one of these days he's going to lie to you—and then you'll have to lose him. It's a small thing, perhaps—but unless you correct the small things, they grow mighty fast into the big!

It never pays to sell a man what he does not want. The next time he will be liable to go to some other store to get what he does want. Favors are soon forgotten, but little impositions make lasting impressions on most men's minds.

Campaign Committee F 1910

Pool Named.

The Executive Board of the Burley Tobacco Society adjourned Thursday, after a session covering two days. The chief business was the creation of the campaign committee for the 1910 pool. President LeBus, and Messrs. A. L. Ferguson and Lister Witherspoon were selected for this work.

Within the next few days the members of the committee will meet to formulate plans for active field work. In general idea, it is their purpose to give the merits of the pool, its principle and pledge, thorough presentation to the planters of the Burley Belt, and when this has been accomplished, they are sanguine of the result.

In addition to general direction and supervision, the committee will individually be mach in the field, and their labors during the period of the campaign are sure to be arduous.

The Board also selected Mr. Bradley Wilson as a representative for the campaign in the Blue Grass.

As director of the Burley movement in the Elizabethtown District, Mr. Wilson proved capacity that, it was felt, amply qualified him for the greater responsibilities. He is an original "pool man," and at his Elizabethtown post had rendered valuable service for the cause. His energy, ability, executive capacity and personality are certain to have large effect in the campaign in Central Kentucky.

Do You Gamble?

Some people do by spending their time and labor and money by housing a crop of hay, oats and other farm produce, and keeping thousands of dollars invested in live stock housed in barns, and gamble with themselves that it will not burn. DO YOU?

Other people place their savings in a home and handsome furniture and then gamble on their luck that it will not burn. DO YOU?

Still others invest thousands in factories, mills, warehouses and other things subject to fire, and think they can, by careful watching, prevent a fire. DO YOU?

To all persons gambling with themselves against loss by fire, wind or tornado, we would suggest you give the matter careful consideration. 200,000 Pounds of Wool in the Pool.

At a call meeting of the State Board of Directors of the Kentucky Wool Growers' Union, District No. 2, American Society of Equity, held last week, a committee was appointed to receive bids until May 20 from prospective buyers of the 1910 wool pool as a whole or by counties. The pool of the organization represents about 200,000 pounds of wool in Kentucky, which is double the amount pooled last year. By pooling the production the growers hope to receive a better price for the wool. At present the average price for the better grades is about the same as last year— from 26 to 28 cents per pound. A dealer stated that the members of the union hoped to receive an average of 31 to 32 cents per pound as a result of the pool.

The Illustrous Hen.

The hen has had her inning, her 'clay' has been repeatedly sung as the great money producer until she has almost superseded the eagle as the American bird. Her product has been counted until she has paid the national debt several times over. But the hen is now overshadowed by the sow. A hen may produce in a year a good many eggs which will give the farmer's wife a good deal of pin money, but a sow in a year will produce enough pigs to pay for a handsome tailor made suit or few pattern hats. Talk about your Standard Oil stock, a sow pays bigger dividends than even John D. can afford on his monopoly. The sow has never gotten her head up as high as a hen, goes about her business in a very downcast and lowly way, but she gets there all the same. If she tips the beam at 250 pounds she is worth on the market $25.00, but if she stays on the farm her pigs in one year will sell for $50.00. She declares a two hundred per cent. dividend annually on her part value. She is paying off mortgages on the farm and causing the farmer to ride around in automobiles and smoke ten cent cigars.

If you have plenty of ground the best way to raise chicks is on the colony plan, a colony here and a colony there, far enough apart not to bother one another. Colonies of 50 chicks do very well, but colonies of 25 will do better still, for it does not pay to crowd young chicks any more than it does to crowd old fowls.

When raised in colonies they can be fed by the hopper system, which will only need filling once a week, so that the feeding part will take but little of the attendant's time.

The Kind Milkman.

"Look here!" cried the man of the house, pointing to the bottle the milkman had just deposited on the kitchen table. "What do you think this is? A hydraulic experiment stick? I buy that stuff from you as milk? I don't order spring water with chalk in it!"

"My dear sir," replied the milkman, suavely, "you don't get spring water with chalk in it!"

"Don't!" howled the householder, "that stuff is more than half water, and yet you have the impudence to tell me—"

The milkman gathered up the empty bottles and turned to go.

"Excuse me," he replied, "but I didn't tell you anything except the absolute truth. That isn't spring water it is distilled. We pride ourselves on using only absolutely germless fluid in making our milk. And notwithstanding the fact that the price of distilled has gone up three cents a barrel, I have not raised the price to you. It seems to me you owe me an apology, therefore; but let it go, let it go!"

And while the householder was trying to get his breath, the philanthropic milkman departed with his microbe-proof empty bottles.

Sports and Fits of Enthusiasm.

Sports of enthusiasm are usually mistaken for something doing. Our Town takes on a fit of enthusiasm for development and we rush headlong into a lot of mistakes.

When we realize our mistakes we are discouraged and ready to quit.

That is just the place where we should begin, to use common sense.

In Our Town we have needed a commercial association; now that our citizens are aroused, let's go ahead today with a whirl and boast of something doing. This is the way the average man feels about it and he wants to see details of practical results and evidence of our money's worth in the afternoon papers.

The way to avoid these mistakes is to call in the assistance of some one who has had experience in town and city development work; to expect his to him. to him—and Development. or indigestion appetite, and what sed me terribly. Bitters cured me." Sundry, O. m.

and Invention," in which he declares that the chances for a successful career in the electrical field are better than ever before; that electrical inventions have not yet all been made; that electricity is the only thing that has become cheaper in the last few years; that the high cost of living comes from the cost of delivering small articles to the ultimate consumer; that horses have no place in city streets; that hereafter motors will do all the chores, and that houses of cement for "plain folks" can be built for $1,200 by the Edison system of molds.

Mr. Edison says we shall have easily $50,000,000,000 of money in the electrical service by 1925 and five times as many persons will then be employed in electricity as now.

He makes the startling declaration that there is absolutely no reason why horses should be allowed within city limits, for believed by sidewalks.

Mr. Edison says he believes a family could live the year around without using anything but good "package food." What is needed, he says, is to carry that a step further and devise automatic stores where the distributing cost is brought down to a minimum on every article handled; a few electro-magnets controlling chutes and hoppers and the thing is done.

Speaking about the cement houses with which he has been experimenting, Mr. Edison says:

Homes and rents are much too high—I saw it coming long ago and hence went into making cement, the cheapest and most durable building material man has ever had. I just mold a house instead of a brick. I believe that the houses can be erected complete with plumbing and heating apparatus for $1,200 each when erected on land underlaid with sand and gravel. In cut stone such a house would cost $50,000.—Leader
